Stronger U.N.O. Is Our Need-Truman

President Tells Congress Charter Must Be Fulfilled

Washington, March 19 (AP)—President Truman told Congress today the United States must seek to perfect the United Nations Charter or betray the trust "of those who fought" for lasting peace and security.

In a report on the activities of the United States delegation to the recent U.N.O. meeting in London, the President said:

"The United States support the Charter. The United States support the fullest implementation of the principles of the Charter. The United States seek to achieve the purposes of the Charter. And the United States seek to perfect the Charter as experience lights the way."

"To do less than our utmost in this essential effort of peace-loving nations, whatever may be the obstacles and difficulties, would be a betrayal of the trust of those who fought to win the opportunity to have a world at last with peace and security, and well-being for all. To do our utmost will be to give new and full expression to the meaning of 'America' to the world."

President Is Unable To Attend U.N.O.

Washington, March 19 (AP)—President Truman today abandoned tentative plans to attend the opening session of the United Nations Security Council at New York next Monday.

Because of the pressure of affairs demanding his attention here, the White House said: "The President finds it utterly impossible" to get away.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, who made the announcement, said the President will send greetings to the meeting through Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., U. S. representative to the Assembly.

Mr. Truman told his last news conference he would like to attend and welcome the delegates in person.

For the first time in a number of years the Ulster County American Legion will meet with the Marlborough Post, A. L., on Thursday night, March 21. The session is called for 8 p. m. sharp.

The dinner will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Kingston, Saturday night, March 30. Legionnaires attending the meeting Thursday night will be able to secure reservations for the dinner to the extent that any are left available at that time.

Three Die in Air Crash; Five Escape Injuries

Vienna, March 19 (AP)—A U. S. Army transport plane bearing five Yugoslav officials crashed Saturday into a Hungarian hillside 80 miles southwest of Budapest, killing three of its crew. The Yugoslavs escaped serious injury.

The passengers had been observers at the Nuernberg war crimes trial and were being flown from Vienna to Belgrade.

Two of the Americans killed were officers. Another officer of the crew suffered brain concussion and a broken arm and is in a critical condition in a hospital at Zirc, near the scene of the crash. All names were withheld until relatives could be notified.

Veterans Bonus Passes In State Assembly

Albany, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—Without a word of debate the Assembly today unanimously approved a proposed constitutional amendment authorizing payment of $400,000,000 in bonuses to the state's 1,700,000 veterans of the second World War.

Identical action by the Senate was scheduled for later in the day.

The bonus would be the biggest ever granted by any state.

King Frowns on Talk of Break In Canada-Russo Relations; Lewis Begins Contract Bargaining

Union Asks Operators Whether They Want War or Peace; Strike Now 12 Days Old

Weeks of Debate

Lewis Continues Attack on Mine Owners for Not Meeting Demands

Washington, March 19 (AP)—Bituminous coal operators and the United Mine Workers began actual bargaining negotiations for a new contract today.

John L. Lewis, U.M.W. chief, asserted just before closed wage conference sessions began, that "war" or "peace" in the industry depended on acceptance of improved mine safety provisions.

The thrashing out of a new contract was placed in the hands of a committee of seven operators and seven United Mine Workers.

The present contract will be terminated by Lewis at midnight March 31, according to his procedure, and he has laid the groundwork for a nationwide bituminous strike April 1 in the absence of a new agreement.

Lewis closed with this declaration:

"We'll meet you half way" on a proposal of the operators that he give a guarantee against "wildcat" strikes. "It's negotiable," he said. "We'll negotiate with you from here out."

He said the operators' offer to substitute a standard 40-hour week for the present 35-hour basis "would turn the clock backward and reduce the income of the mine workers."

He said he thought the operators "can't be serious about that."

Lewis again addressed the operators, rebutting their reply to his nine general demands for 400,000 members of the United Mine Workers. He repeated what he called an "indictment" in which he accused the management and stockholders of having "made dead" 28,000 mine workers in 14 years and injuring another 1,004,000.

In that "indictment" he said "we have made two demands: For abatement of this slaughter and cessation of the accompanying evil."

Those are demands," he asserted. "What do you want? Peace? Or do you prefer war?"

"We'll await your reply with interest on those issues," Lewis said coldly.

Dispute Casualty Figures

Spokesmen for the operators yesterday disputed Lewis' casualty figures, contending they did not reveal advances made in mine safety in the last 14 years.

Lewis proposed that the operators include in a new contract, to be effective after April 1, a provision as follows:

"The contracting parties recognize that the loss of life in the coal mines and the ratio of injuries is too great to be condoned in any civilized country and the operators signatory to this contract agree that henceforth they will meticulously carry out and put into effect any safety recommendations made by the inspectors of the U. S. in the employ of the Bureau of Mines."

Still Has the Floor

How soon the closed-door negotiations will begin over nine general demands by Lewis and four counter-offers by the operators apparently depended on the United Mine Workers' boss. He still held the floor after declaring yesterday that the miners "asked for bread and received a stone."

Lashing out at the industry's apparent rejection of his demands for a miners' health and welfare fund, Lewis asked the operators in a bitterly sarcastic speech:

Abuses Reported In Vet Hospitals

House Committee Unveils Alleged Mistreatment in Three Institutions

Washington, March 19 (AP)—The House Veterans Committee reported today it has found "some abuses" existed in veterans hospitals at Northport, Long Island; Lyons, N. J., and Chillicothe, O.

Personnel responsible for the alleged mistreatment, it said in a formal report, have been court-martialed or indicted.

The report did not give details but during committee hearings in the course of a year-long investigation, witnesses testified patients in the three hospitals were beaten and otherwise mistreated.

Several weeks ago the committee rejected a sub-committee report which found "some cases of beatings and mistreatment of patients."

The report approved today by the full committee was drafted by a new subcommittee after rejection of the earlier report. It was much shorter and did not detail any specific findings or recommendations.

Several members indicated they would file a minority report later, presumably because the committee action was not detailed enough to suit them.

Conditions Not Bad

The committee said its investigation "disclosed that conditions in veterans hospitals were neither as bad as portrayed by the periodicals or individuals, nor were they everything desired by this committee. The investigation was touched off by a series of magazine and newspaper articles about conditions in veterans' institutions."

The committee blamed "war-time exigencies" and the use of inexperienced personnel for many of the conditions it criticized and said recently enacted legislation coordinating the veterans' medical service should remedy the situation.

It recommended that in the future military personnel should not be assigned to veterans hospitals. Attendants should be "carefully trained" before assignment, the committee said.

In view of assurances from Gen. Omar N. Bradley, veterans administrator, that conditions have been improved and will continue to improve, the committee said, it feels that "no useful purpose is to be served by now commenting further on any conditions which have heretofore existed."

Farley at Trials

Nuernberg, Germany, March 19 (AP)—James A. Farley dropped in on the Nuernberg war crimes trial today and called it "an impressive and historic show." He is touring Germany "on business and just looking around." The former Postmaster General will go to Augsburg tomorrow and then will visit Frankfurt and Berlin. He refused to talk about American politics—"not here, at least."

French Plebiscite

Paris, March 19 (AP)—The French Cabinet decided today to hold national elections June 2. The Constituent Assembly will be urged to speed up its work on the new constitution so it can be presented to the people no later than May 5.

Prime Minister Admits Matters of Concern to Dominion and U. S. Were Sought

Know Details First

Advices Against Hasty Judgment; Canada Is Eager to Keep Peace

By HARRY T. MONTGOMERY

Ottawa, March 18 (AP)—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King told Parliament last night that his government was gravely concerned over Russian espionage activities which he said had extended through the Dominion into the U. S. and Britain, but he frowned on the idea of an open break between Canada and Russia.

Voicing his belief that Generalissimo Stalin was ignorant of the espionage activities, King emphasized Canada's desire for "only the best of relations with the U.S.S.R."

A tense House heard the 90-minute address in which the Prime Minister reviewed the course of his government's investigation into an alleged Russian spy plot, the first inkling of which was given by King himself last February 15 in a public statement that caused a sensation in Britain and the United States as well as Canada.

He told Parliament that documents seized in the espionage inquiry and accepted by the government as being of undoubted authenticity, "disclose among other things that Canada was being made a base to secure information on matters of very great and grave concern to the United States and also to Great Britain."

The Prime Minister said further that these documents showed "that information was being sought through agents here with respect to many matters that were of the utmost concern to Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom." He did not elaborate except to refer to previous announcements that troop movements and scientific data were sought.

Operations Go Back to 1943

King said that operations conducted through the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa went back as far as 1943 and had created "as serious a situation as has existed in Canada at any time," having potentially "far-reaching repercussions."

He drew a distinction, however, between the Soviet agents, who he said, had conducted the espionage, and Generalissimo Stalin and the Russian people.

"I know," he said, "or have learned of Mr. Stalin from those who have been closely associated with him in the war, that which causes me to believe that he would not countenance action of this kind on the part of his country, and I believe that when these facts are known to him and to others in positions of full responsibility, they shall find that a change will come that will make a vast difference indeed."

Reds Want To Be Friendly

"As far as the Russian people are concerned," he said at another point, "I am as sure as I am of anything that the Russian people are just as anxious to have friendly relations with Canada and with peoples in other parts of the world as our own people are, but in that country there are persons who for their own selfish ends will do many things that would not be countenanced by the great majority."

King said he hoped no one in a responsible position would call for severance of diplomatic relations with Russia.

"We in Canada," he said, "want only the best of relations with the U.S.S.R., as we do with every other country, and we must not be too ready to judge until we know all the circumstances connected with the particular situation."

Didn't Minimize Case

Despite this appeal, King made no effort to minimize what he considered the gravity of the case itself. These were the highlights of his address, one of the longest extemporaneous speeches of his career, made before packed galleries which hung on every word:

1. As soon as he knew of the ramifications of the espionage network, he consulted immediately with President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee last fall on a trip to Washington and London. The public knew of these visits but did not know this was among the subjects discussed.

2. Announcement of the case was delayed until February 15 for two main reasons: "First, not to create an atmosphere of distrust at the Moscow conference of foreign ministers and subsequent United Nations meetings in London, and secondly to enable enough investigation so that as Continued on Page Two

125 File Housing Information Here

Majority From Families Seeking Apartment or House in City

Although 125 families have so far filled out the housing survey questionnaire in The Freeman, the great majority of replies are from families seeking a house or apartment, and but few of the property owners of the city have responded.

The Kingston Housing Survey Committee is anxious to have much information available as possible, and today urged property owners who have houses or apartments that can be made habitable to fill out the questionnaire and return it to the Kingston Housing Survey Committee at the city hall.

Answers to the survey must be in the hands of the Kingston Housing Committee by Thursday, March 21. Replies should be addressed to the Kingston Housing Committee, City Hall, Kingston, N. Y.

As soon as the survey is completed it is expected that a representative of the State Housing Committee will be in Kingston and meet with the local committee to go over the information secured in the survey.

While the committee is anxious to ascertain the number of families seeking houses or apartments, it is also necessary to have information as to the number of houses and apartments that could be made available for living purposes.

At that time the maintenance of the parking space was given over to the county superintendent. The parking grounds will be operated for the free use of the shopping public the same as in the past.

Republicans Will Insist Names of Streets Be Listed

Resolution on $95,000 Bond Issue to Come Before the Common Council Tonight

Tonight the Common Council will hold a special meeting to take action on the $95,000 bond issue for reconstruction of streets in Kingston. The bond issue was defeated at the regular meeting of the council earlier this month, when the required two-thirds majority vote was not obtained.

Alderman-at-large John J. Schwenk was questioned today by a Freeman reporter as to what action the Republican members of the council would take tonight.

In reply to questions Alderman-at-large Schwenk said that "the Republican minority in the council in order to safeguard the public's interests and to assure the money would be spent for the purpose for which it was appropriated, would insist that the resolution authorizing the approval of the bond issue include the names of the streets to be reconstructed."

"I notified the Democratic members of the Finance Ways and Means committee of this last week," said Alderman-at-large Schwenk, "and suggested that a recess be taken in order to include the names of the streets in the resolution. For reasons unknown to me the Democratic members insisted on excluding the naming of the streets in the resolution."

Stand by Position

"The Republican members of the council," said Alderman-at-large Schwenk, "have not changed their position. Whether the bond issue is passed or again defeated, depends upon the Democrats, who are in control of the Common Council, including in the resolution the names of the streets to be reconstructed."

Spain Charges U. S. Planned Blow at Iberian Peninsula

Madrid, March 19 (AP)—The Spanish government, meeting charge with counter-charge, declared last night that the United States planned an invasion of the Iberian Peninsula in 1944 and carried on espionage in Spanish North Africa in 1943.

The Foreign Ministry, in a 5,000-word reply to the U. S. State Department's White Book of March 4 accusing Spain of cooperating with the Axis during the war, flatly denied the charges and added: "The conduct of Spain toward the United States during the war and post-war years has been irreproachable."

The document asserted that Generalissimo Francisco Franco first avoided and later refused a German request that Spain participate in the European war.

Nevertheless, it is said, Spain had "to present complaints to the North American Nation because of activities of its officials and secret service agents."

It said these activities were related "to certain subversive attempts to Spanish territory, especially in Malaga and Melilla."

Malaga, in southern Spain, is directly across the Mediterranean from Melilla, in Spanish Morocco.

Hit Anti-Franco Press

The Foreign Ministry asserted an anti-Spanish campaign was carried on in the North American press in January, 1944 to conceal plans for an invasion of the Iberian Peninsula. The pleas were prepared, the Ministry asserted, by General G. Strong, presented through the American Chief of Secret Information, W. J. Donovan, and proposed at the end of January that year to the other Allied nations.

Camp Shanks May Be Used to House Veterans

Albany, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—State Housing Commissioner Herman T. Stichtman believes Camp Shanks might be converted into emergency living quarters for veterans enrolled in New York city area colleges.

Stichtman outlined the possible use of the Orange county military post at a meeting yesterday of the executive committee of the state conference of college presidents. Governor Dewey and other state officials met with the committee. Stichtman toured Camp Shanks earlier in the day. No decision has been made on requesting release of the federal property to the state.

Young Germany Will Arise Again After Hunger Vanishes

Hannover, March 19 (AP)—A senior military government officer says bluntly that British occupation authorities expect trouble from young, militant Germans in about a year or two—when they are well fed.

This highly-placed officer, asking not to be quoted by name, told a reporter this is not a possibility but a decided probability.

"The Werewolves are dead now," he said in an interview. "That is because the German is busy trying to find food. But it will not always be that way."

"When Germany is better organized, when enough food is available so that a man doesn't have to spend all his time on that, one problem, it will be different."

He said he expected that turn of affairs in maybe a year, two at the latest.

Some occupation officials feared there would be trouble over reduced rations, which went into effect two weeks ago.

"That will only intensify their search for food," the officer said. "And it will only keep them that much busier on the one problem. We have set up, of course, safety measures but I see no organized efforts among Germans to cause trouble."

The view is this: There are 50,000,000 Germans outside the Russian zone. The area never was able to feed more than 35,000,000. Imports must feed the remainder.

By summer, 1947, it is expected that agricultural production will be at its peak. That means that the great majority of Germans will be living off their own crops and they will know it.

Bills Proposed at Albany

Albany, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—Governor Dewey signed today a bill granting the parole board discretionary power to release honorably discharged war veterans from supervision.

The new law was recommended by the governor in his annual message to recognize the contributions of "many men who had previously been convicted of crime and who were actually on parole" while in the armed services.

Dewey also signed a bill permitting exemption from real estate taxation of property bought by disabled World War 2 veterans with funds collected by popular subscription.

Another measure signed establishes a $500,000 revolving fund in the Division of Standards and Purchase for buying food and other supplies for state institutions or agencies.

The Senate, meanwhile, passed unanimously and sent to the Assembly a bill continuing to July 1, 1947, the emergency moratorium during which deficiency judgments may not be recovered in mortgage foreclosure actions on real property.

An administration program measure prescribing uniform accounting methods for insurance companies also was passed without dissent in the Senate and sent to the Assembly.

The Assembly unanimously approved continuation for another year of a temporary state commission created in 1938 to draft a long-range health program. The bill went to the Senate.

With Assemblyman Nathan A. Lashin, Bronx Democrat, voting no, the larger house passed, 136 to 1, and sent to the Senate a measure providing for the financing of a midtown New York city bus terminal by the New York Port Authority.

Bills introduced by Senate and Assembly rules committees would: Appropriate $359,700 to Cornell University for floriculture research extension work.

Grant $75,000 for an investigation of the activities of state government departments. The study's aim would be to increase governmental efficiency.

Terminate the State War Council but retain military leaves of absence for public officials until April 1, 1947.

LOST CONTINENTS

There are not so many continents in the world but that some people try to find more. The late British zoologist, J. Stanley Gardiner, set out in 1934 as secretary of an expedition to locate the supposed lost continent of Lemuria. The existence of this continent would explain the origin of lemurs and similar animals, which has been a scientific mystery. The German naturalist Ernst Haeckel located this Lemuria in the Indian Ocean; Madagascar he thought was an unsubmerged part of it. The expedition unfortunately failed to find traces of Lemuria.

The name is also given to another lost continent whose existence is more likely. The Pacific Ocean is full of little islands which rise and disappear through volcanic action. It is not hard to conceive of them as the mountain peaks of a drowned land. When, however, the people who believe in a lost Lemurian continent in the Pacific speak of it as the cradle of all science, they are making statements which they would find it hard to prove.

The most famous lost continent is Atlantis, which the Greek philosopher Plato located in the Atlantic, presumably somewhere west of Africa. Many tales are told of its surpassingly great civilization, and the tradition may have some truth. Only it must be located somewhere else, as the geologists do not admit any submerging of land on a great scale within historic times in the Atlantic.

Any Explorer who found actual traces of Atlantis, Lemuria or any other lost continent would go down in history with Christopher Columbus.

A PUZZLING WORLD

"The world is too much with us. Late and soon, Getting and spending, we lay waste our powers." It almost seems as if the English poet Wordsworth, when he wrote those well-known words, anticipated our own time. The world, indeed, is with us now, in these late days, far too much for our comfort and safety. As Wendell Willkie said truly, it is "one world" now. And there is not only getting and spending, but there are wars and rumors of wars, coming all too close just when we were beginning to have faith in a general peace.

"Iran indeed is gone, with all its rose," wrote another poet—and there is war in Iran right now, with "Red Tank Spearheads" reported.

"U. S. Calls on Moscow to Explain," and there is fear on that lately calm horizon.

The Russians may not really be changing from friends to foes, but they seem to stand aloof and unscrutable, with a suggestion of veiled peril. Most Americans seem asleep, as far as the world in general is concerned.

This comment itself hardly makes sense. But what does? Maybe we shall wake up one of these days and see what it's all about. Meanwhile we have to do our best to feed the hungry and put our own house in order.

Q-FEVER

The latest disease is Q-fever, a new type of pneumonia which does not respond to the usual treatment. It first appeared in 1935 among Australian slaughterhouse workers. Later it has affected soldiers in the Balkans and in Italy. Ironically, its first outbreak in this country is among employees of the United States Public Health Service.

The Health Service knows neither the cause of the disease nor its cure, but is systematically trying to find out. The days are gone forever when communities stricken by a new plague could only fold their hands and wait for it to pass.

NAZI MEDICAL DECAY

Coming as something of a surprise is the report of a United States Medical colonel that medicine in Nazi Germany deteriorated. Penicillin and plasma were not used, operating rooms lacked entirely modern anesthesia machines, and all the new instruments in use in this country. Practice in medical schools, including surgery was years behind.

THE IRON CURTAIN

As long as a large part of the world is closed to American reporters, it is impossible for the American people to know the truth of occurrences. The recent imprisonment of American reporters in Manchuria—politely, I believe, called a detention in their hotel rooms—is characteristic of an era in which governments deceive not only their own people but all the world.

It should be American policy, fixed by law, that when a nation does not permit American newspapermen to send, in time of peace, uncensored accounts of whatever they believe the American people ought to know, and which refuses to permit free access to news in any part of the country to bona fide American reporters, the reporters of that country should be excluded from the United States, and telegraph, telephone and wireless facilities should be withheld from them.

This sounds drastic, but if freedom of the press, the radio, photographs, is worth fighting for, the battle must be sharp and hard. The American people are entitled to the news, truthfully and fully conveyed to them by reporters in the employ of American newspapers, news agencies and radio companies. Mr. Roosevelt and latterly Mr. Byrnes agreed to keep them away from the news. Neither had any legal and constitutional right to do that. Actually they failed to keep the news out of the press, because competent reporters got the facts which they published as rumors, guesses and gossip. That is not good enough.

The State Department hired Dr. Arthur W. MacMahon, not a newspaperman but a consultant in administration, to write a "Memorandum on the Postwar International Information Program of the United States." This memorandum is designed to justify huge expenditures by the American government to send news and propaganda to all nations on the ground that "modern international relations lie between peoples, not merely governments." That statement is, of course, untrue because most of the peoples of the world are only permitted to know what their governments want them to know. Precisely what do the peoples of Russia, Poland, Spain, Hungary, Germany, China, Japan and most other countries have to say about what their governments do? That statement was thrown in to satisfy American public opinion without regard to the facts.

And there is another paragraph in this report which wanders all over the map but misses the salient point that months after V-J Day the American people are excluded from the truth. Read this and see what it adds up to: "Similarly, the United States could hardly expect (as some extreme advocates of freedom of information have seemed to hope) to secure assent to agreements that would bar governments like those of Great Britain and the Soviet Union from conducting or participating in informational agencies of various kinds. An area of agreement may be possible. International agreements on the right to collect information within any country and to export it to other countries should apply to both governmental and private agencies."

Do you get it? This is the Soviet view of freedom of the press as reported by Dr. MacMahon: "The Soviet Union, who has all power in the hands of the toilers of the cities and villages represented by Soviet deputies, a judicial right to issue their own magazines and newspapers is guaranteed by supplying toilers and their organizations with paper, printing offices, buildings, communications, and other commodities. Everything is guaranteed by the Soviet Constitution. Upon this foundation the exceedingly strong growth of the press became possible."

In other words, Russian freedom of the press consists in letting a newspaper have a building and some paper. But the American people want a full report and they want it from numerous sources. They do not want to be imposed upon. They do not expect any reporter to possess the Godlike qualities of omniscience, omnipresence and perfect, irrefutable understanding and complete and unerring truthfulness. But they do expect that dozens of honest men, in honest competition for the truth, will make it possible for the American people to discover the truth.

No government can do that. No government agency can do that. No censorship can do that. Freedom of the press is a job for Congress.

PHYSICAL AND MENTAL AILMENTS

When we think of all the discoveries in medicine during the past twenty-five to thirty years we naturally think of the control of diabetes by insulin, of pernicious anemia by liver and vitamin B₁₂, of most recently of the sulfa drugs and of penicillin in fighting of acute infections. What many of us fail to remember is the discoveries in the understanding and treatment of mental disease. Had these discoveries or rather proper understanding of mental diseases not become known the statement that within fifty years half of the population would be needed to live after the other half because of mental disease might come true. As a matter of fact it is only within the past fifty years that mental ailments have been recognized as similar to physical ailments and their causes, symptoms and treatment require the same study and investigation. For centuries before and after the beginning of the Christian era the mentally sick were considered to be possessed of evil spirits or demons. This superstitious attitude continued until late in the eighteenth century.

In his Text Book of Psychiatry, Dr. Arthur B. Noyes, Washington, D. C., states that, perhaps the reason we were so backward in realizing that psychiatry (study of behavior) was really a branch of medicine is because we cannot see the cause of odd behavior by examination under the microscope as we can a physical disease such as pneumonia or tuberculosis. Nevertheless the same laws of chemistry, physiology and physics that operate in physical health operate also in physical disease. Similarly we find that the same psychological laws which operate in mental health operate in mental disease. In physical disease fever, rapid pulse and other symptoms show the body's effort to fight the disease. In mental disease the mind tries to meet the situation.

The symptoms of physical disease result from the conflict between the body's constructive forces and the destructive forces. In mental disease the symptoms result from the conflict between the conscious ideals of the individual as he knows how he should behave in the community and his own personal motives and wishes.

Russia Needs at Least Five Years for Domestic Recovery, So May Soon Adopt Conciliatory Trend

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 19—An easing of tension in the so-called Russian crisis may be confidently expected soon. The moves being made indicate that Russia herself may have been surprised at the development of the crisis, believing instead that a continuance of her pressure tactics began during the war period and maintained ever since would yield results without exciting the people of the United States.

The Iranian controversy has back of it a struggle for access to one of the richest oil fields in the world. The British have large interests in Iran, and the United States is anxious to see an internationalization of these resources. The Iranian government is being pressed by Russia to grant oil concessions in return for withdrawal of the Soviet troops.

This method of bargaining is called Russian realism. It has, in this instance, run roughshod over an explicit pledge to withdraw troops from Iran. Likewise the looting of Manchuria has hurt the Russian position in this country.

Perhaps Moscow's approach at a different thing on the theory that the United States would hesitate to side with Britain's efforts to maintain her Mediterranean influence.

While Secretary Byrnes quite naturally has deplored any talk of alliance and seemingly talks issue with Mr. Churchill, all he really is doing is supporting the United Nations Charter as a substitute for alliances without in any way retreating on his earlier speaking virtually acquiescing in breaking her treaty pledge in Iran.

The notes which the American government has sent to Russia and which have for so long gone unanswered stand as an indictment of Russian ineptitude. Russia seriously wants peace and there is every reason to think that our government took the whole thing so seriously. It must mean that the State Department decided to try to keep the Russian agents from becoming extreme and hence made a fuss about it, fearing that unless stopped now, Russia might precipitate further incidents which would really produce apprehension.

Whatever may be the motives of materialistic Russia — for the Communist Soviet is as crude in its selfishness as any capitalist empire ever was—the net result has been to awaken America. De-

Alderman William G. Smith of the Twelfth ward, died on May 22, 1926, in his home on Huron avenue, aged 45 years. At the time of his death he was employed as a driver and delivery clerk for the American Railway Express.

Prior to that he had for 14 years conducted a large retail milk route in the city. At one time he was manager of the Star Theatre on central Broadway, near the railroad crossing, and also of the former Keeney Theatre on Wall street.

Alderman Smith was active in local fireman affairs and was a member of Excelsior Hose Co. Fraternally he was a member of the Kingston Lodge of Elks.

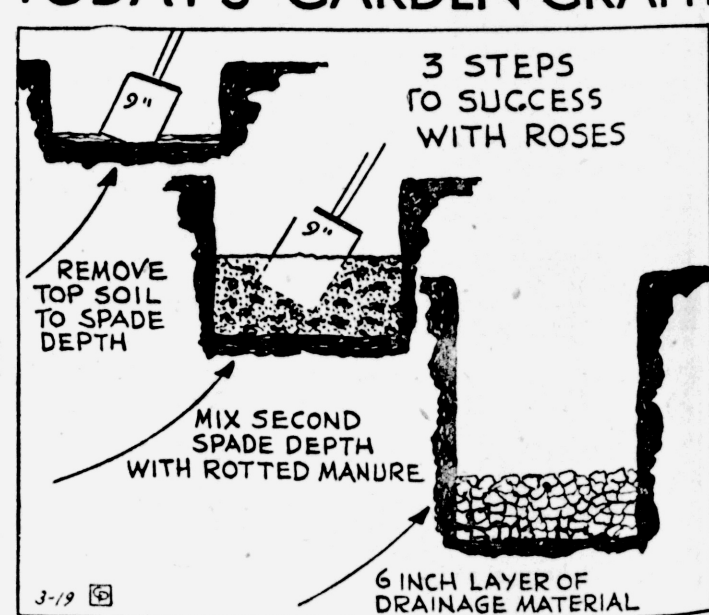

Oscar L. Eastman died in his home on West Pierpont street, on July 6, 1926, aged 75 years. He came to Kingston in 1871, and was actively employed in business until his retirement on August 1, 1921.

For many years he was employed by the Cocke and Sons, and at the time he retired he had been employed as bookkeeper for the Cornell Steamboat Co.

Mr. Eastman was long active in local Masonic circles and was a thirty-second degree Mason of the Scottish Rite, and a member of Mecca Temple of the Mystic Shrine.

He and his wife organized Kingston Chapter, No. 155, Order of the Eastern Star, on March 2, 1898, and they served as the first patron and first matron of the order.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Success With Roses Starts Underground

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Released by Central Press Association

THE GROUNDWORK for success with roses involves three comparatively simple steps. They should be taken, however, weeks before your roses arrive for planting. It is advisable to do it while waiting for rose bushes to arrive from the nursery, for the soil in the rose bed must have time to settle before the bushes are planted.

The importance and preparation of a rose's underworld is shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

First, dig out the topsoil to the depth of a 9-inch blade, as illustrated. Then mix the next blade depth of soil thoroughly with well-rotted cow manure. Nothing is as good for roses as cow manure, either above or below ground.

Next, and this is especially advisable if your rose bed is not well drained, dig down still a third spade's depth, and, as illustrated, put in a good layer of small stones, coarse cinders or other drainage-permitting material.

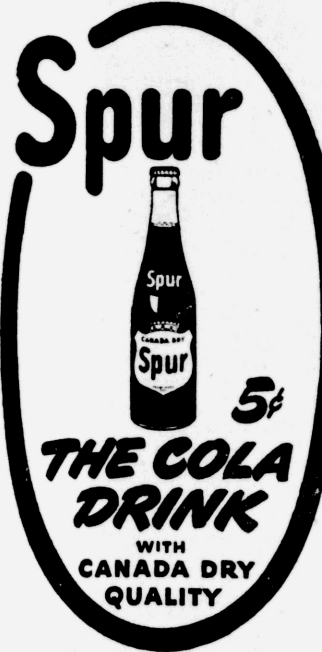

Select a location for your rose bed where tree roots cannot interfere with the roots of the roses. It is surprising how quickly tree roots will find a rose bed and all consuming food and moisture intended for the roses.

If tree roots are unavoidably present, dig a trench around your rose bed, as deep as the tree roots extend, thereby cutting off all that might attempt to enter the rose bed.

This trench may be filled in again immediately, but should be dug around the rose bed every year if the tree roots prove bothersome.

Why Is a Red Like an Ant?

New York, March 19 (AP)—Winston Churchill held out the prospect today of America and Great Britain rendering unprecedented services to humanity "at this juncture" by "walking forward together with no aims of conquest, subjugation or advancement of the sordid interests."

The former British Prime Minister, after being awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at Columbia University yesterday, also emphasized the importance of English and history, and added: "Even our Communist friends should study this. They should study the admirable modern works on the life and the soul of the white ant. That will show not only a great deal about their past but will give a very fair indication of their future."

Churchill did not expand upon his allusion.

(The ant quip brought this explanation from Dr. Howard E. Anthony, dean of the scientific staff of the American Museum of Natural History: "The white ant is a termite and the individual ant has absolutely no say. They all work for the community and they have probably been in this communal fix for millions of years... at a dead end. Now it seems to me, as far as individuals are concerned, that's not a very desirable state of affairs.")

(Dr. Maurice A. Bigelow, professor of biology at Columbia from 1903 to 1939, said: "I presume Mr. Churchill meant to indicate the tendencies of some nations to force individuals to work automatically at one task, whether they wanted to or not."

"But the comparison of animal life, while it makes good poetry, does not mean much to a scientist. Because an animal does certain things under certain conditions, is no reason why human beings should follow."

Britain's wartime leader, clad in the scarlet robes of a Doctor of Oxford, told an audience of 600 persons, "There must be opened under the aegis and under the authority, valiantly maintained, unflinchingly maintained, a world organization to guard the humble toiler, guard the small homes of the nation, of all nations, from the horrors of war and of tyranny."

He spoke two hours after an assembly of nearly 1,500 students of the university criticized his recent Fulton, Mo., speech, and after students, bearing placards saying "No More Blood, Sweat or Tears," paraded near the school.

Iran Files New Note With U.N.O.

Protest Russia's Refusal to Remove Troops: Put Case Before Council

Washington, March 19 (AP)—Iran has filed a new protest with the United Nations Security Council against continued presence of Russian troops in that country, an Iranian Embassy official said today.

Gholam Abbas Aram, first secretary of the Embassy, told a reporter that Ambassador Hussein Ala delivered the protest last night to Trygve Lie, U.N.O. secretary general, who is now in Washington.

Ala acted on instructions received from Premier Ahmed Qavam-Es-Sultaneh in Tehran late yesterday, Aram said.

Aram said he believed Ambassador Ala, if given the opportunity, would appear in person before the Security Council to present the Iranian case against Russia.

Russian troops had been scheduled to leave Iran by March 2. Instead they remained there.

Qavam last week announced his intention to take Iran's troubles to the Security Council, after he had failed in personal conferences at Moscow with Generalissimo Stalin and Foreign Commissar Molotov to clear up the situation.

Some doubt arose later as to whether he would be able to follow that course.

The U. S. government had received word from its representatives in Iran that Soviet officials in Tehran were endeavoring to dissuade Qavam from making the protest to the Council.

Spain's 12 Points

The Spanish statement enumerated 12 points which it said demonstrated how "Spain's benevolence toward the Allies was accentuated from the first moment of the entry of the United States into the war."

These included: De facto recognition of the French government in North Africa; passage of French combatants through Spain to Algiers; refusal to recognize Mussolini's government in northern Italy after his escape to Germany; release of U. Shokan, March 19.—John Rutherford of the Tonche Mountain neighborhood was taken to a Kingston Hospital last week for examination. Mr. Rutherford was injured in a sand-bank accident earlier in the winter.

Earl North has begun his new residence near the junction of Route 28 and mountain road. Mr. North erected a garage of field stone on the site several years ago. Wolfgang Adels, who enlisted in the army several months ago is stationed at an air field in Missouri.

Mrs. Charles MacDonald of Kingston spent the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. R. W. Longyear of the old state road.

Donald Dubois, Ashokan garage-man, has been made superintendent of the Sunday school of the Ashokan Methodist Church.

Lewis Thiel, who sustained a badly bruised leg in a fall, is able to attend to his farm chores.

Sam Cohen, local doctor, had another attack of illness last week.

Mrs. John Hasbrouck, whose death in Kingston was reported in The Freeman, had a number of friends in Shokan where she formerly made her home. Mrs. Hasbrouck, before her marriage, was Ora Swarthout of the Black Brook section of Olive. Previous to removing to Kingston she and her husband owned and occupied the present Winchell house in the village center.

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

A. P. World Traveler

Vienna, March 18—Dr. Karl Renner, president of this storm-tossed little republic, tells me he believes that "the great hope for Austria is Vienna itself."

"Vienna," says the doctor, "is destined to be the international center of culture. Vienna has so many treasures of old culture that it will be forever a point for sightseers. It is a base for air transport. If you want to see Europe in three days, come to Vienna. All is here."

"Vienna knows nearly all the language of importance. That's the good heritage of the old monarchy. We don't want to restore the monarchy, but we are proud to be its cultural heir."

From this it will be clear that the silver-haired chief of state, with his benign countenance and twinkling eyes, is by way of being a smooth salesman. He injected this lure for tourists into a long interview which I had with him at the chancellery on Austria's General position and her hopes, and he did it so ardently that it was as fitting as a new hat for Easter.

As a matter of fact I was glad Dr. Renner raised this subject, because it impelled Mrs. Mack and me to re-examine the capital with an eye for the damage sustained in the siege towards the close of the war. Of course, Vienna was terribly hurt by bombing, but a city is like the human body—it can endure grievous injuries and recover without showing many scars.

Now I don't want to inject any over optimistic language into this dispatch. Vienna is heavily damaged, but when we have emphasized that point it can be added that relatively speaking she came through her ordeal pretty well. As compared with Berlin, for example, the Austrian capital is in good shape.

Vienna's vision of tourists are by no means a mirage, but she has many problems to solve, besides the lack of bricks and mortar before those visions can come fully true. Her most pressing difficulty—and this is true of most of the country—is the grave scarcity of food. This is the second time in a quarter century that Austria has learned the hard way what war means to countries which aren't self-sufficient.

Still, when Austria has surmounted that danger there's no reason why—perhaps in a small way at first—Dr. Renner's tourist dream should not come true. Austria can achieve this dream if she isn't caught in the whirlpool of international politics growing out of realignment of the balance of power in Europe. Austria is in the center of that upheaval and there can be no doubt that her independence of action is involved in the outcome.

The total number of salves fired by a rocket-firing LCT is equal to approximately two and a half times the fire power of a 45,000-ton battleship.

Capt. Smith to Meet Lt. James C. Whittaker At Dinner Club Tonight

One person anxiously waiting to meet and hear Lt. James C. Whittaker, copilot of the Rickenbacker crew, who will speak at the Kingston National Dinner Club tonight, is Capt. Harry W. Smith, local army recruiting officer.

Captain Smith was navigator of the crew who flew the ill fated Rickenbacker ship the day before the mishap. Captain Smith says the airship was an old type B-17 Flying Fortress which was being used on submarine patrol. When they returned to Hickam Field, Hawaii, the night before, the Rickenbacker crew took-off. Captain Smith reported the instruments and rigging were not working properly and the ship was turned into the repair depot. However, Captain Smith believes, that because of the shortage of airplanes in that locality at the time, it was assigned to the Rickenbacker trip the next day.

Not only possessing a first hand knowledge of the plane, Captain Smith will have other interesting details to discuss with Lieutenant Whittaker. After word was received of the missing plane, Captain Smith's squadron was assigned to the searching parties based on Canton Island.

"I flew 53 hours straight without any sleep, myself," says Captain Smith. Day and night search was conducted with the planes flying landing lights to search the waters after dark. They were not fortunate enough to find the missing men, however, because the plane had crashed farther south than their radius of search.

Captain Smith will be the guest of the dinner club at tonight's meeting, in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Despite a 300-pin defeat in his first major test, Johnny Ferraro emerged from the week-end hostilities against Tony Sparando with the valuable experience that is forged only in the white heat of competition.

Ferraro's 209 average, notwithstanding his setback, confirms our assertion that the Ace stands like a Goliath over the remainder of the Rondout Valley field.

Watching Sparando move through 30 games in his faultless, majestic style was an unforgettable experience. When you watched him bowl over the 10-pin time and again with consummate ease, you know that here was the big time in bowling. The New Yorker is a champion all the way, a magnificent performer at the threshold of a great future.

Better Bowling

Point of Contact: Things really happen in bowling at the top of the backswing.

It is the point of contact!

That is the point from which the ball either continues into its downward arc in perfect timing, like a pendulum, or the rhythm of the entire action is ruined by rushing or forcing the swing.

In previous articles I explained the importance of the push-away in getting the ball into swinging motion.

Pushing the ball away from the body with the first step causes it to swing easily. Doing this, the bowler should have the feeling that the ball is swinging smoothly and accurately. And only then will body balance be maintained at the foul line.

The feeling of looseness must continue throughout the swing—backward and forward. Only then can the ball be delivered smoothly and accurately. And only then will body balance be maintained at the foul line.

In the accompanying illustration is pictured what happens when the pendulum is broken at the top of the backswing—the point of contact.

Hurrying the downswing, which is the natural result of trying to get speed, breaks the pendulum contact and causes a rush to the foul line. The body, as the sketch shows, is then thrown off balance. The feet are pointed out of position toward the right hand gutter instead of straight ahead, the delivery arm is cut off abruptly at the foul line in place of following out toward the pins.

Improved alley conditions and a general lift in scoring sends the ABC-winning totals higher each year. Baseball Briefs

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 19 (AP)—Brooklyn President Branch Rickey today announced that pitcher Kirby Higbe and catcher Mickey Owen soon will rejoin the club. Rickey said Higbe has been discharged from the army and will report Saturday and that Owen will be out of the navy about April 1. The Dodger boss also announced that pitcher Ernest Rudolph had been released outright to Fort Worth of the Texas League, a Dodger farm.

Anaheim, Calif., March 19 (AP)—Holdout Vernon Stephens has returned to his original contract to the St. Louis Browns but he still is staying close to the training camp. Stephens and first baseman Dick Siebert, the club's only other holdout, watched the team practice today.

Opt Favors Rookies
Miami Beach, Fla., March 19 (AP)—If the New York Giants were to open the pennant race tomorrow, Manager Mel Ott says he would install shortstop Bill Rigney and Bud Blatter, a pair of rookies, as his starting keystone combination. Ott added that Buddy Kerr and Georgia Hausmann, last year's holdovers, are still in the running and may win back their job before opening day.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 19 (AP)—The New York Yankees' squad of 64, divided between here and Bradenton, may soon be pruned. President Larry MacPhail, George Weiss, his chief assistant and manager Joe McCarthy held a lengthy conclave and it was believed plans were made for the distribution of players to the Yanks' key farms in Newark, Kansas City and Beaumont.

Lakeland, Fla., March 19 (AP)—Two Detroit Tiger veterans, pitcher Tommy Bridges and outfielder Roger Cramer, were in the fore yesterday as the world champions snapped a seven-game losing streak to beat the New York Yankees "B" squad, 8-5, at Bradenton. Bridges, the winning pitcher, hurled one-hit ball for four innings and Cramer cracked out a triple and a pair of singles and made a fine one-handed shoestring catch on Rollie Hemley's seventh inning line.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., March 19 (AP)—After taking a 3-2 bumping from the Baltimore International League Orioles, the Boston Braves will attempt to snap out of their losing streak here today against the Philadelphia Phillies. Manager Billy Southworth has selected Elmer Singleton, Al Trichel and Johnny Sain to pitch.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 19 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics are "in desperate need" of an outfielder, says Manager Connie Mack, and "I'd do almost anything to get one."

Mack, who's looking for a rightfielder, says he'd prefer "a man of proved ability who can hit and drive in runs." Hal Peck, an athletic outfielder, is still holding out for more money and Mack comments tersely: "He's counted himself out."

Top-seeded team of the tourney, the Wildcats from the bluegrass country were given a stiff battle by West Virginia's Mountaineers last night before they were able to pull out a 39-31 victory and advance to the final round.

The Rams, once again paced by slim, tireless Ernie Calverley in their helter-skelter rushes up and down the floor, laughed off their underdog role and polished off the Mules of Muhlenberg, 59-49. Calverley, applauded continuously by the 18,478 fans who packed the Garden, dropped in 27 points and set up at least a dozen more with his sharp, well-aimed passes.

Last Minute Spurt
Kentucky's pair of jacks, Tingle and Parkinson, along with Ralph Beard, were the key men in the Wildcats' conquest. With the score tied 14-14, Tingle, during the spine-tingling tilt and less than two minutes to go, Tingle and Parkinson broke up the 51-all deadlock by plumping four field goals in the net. Tingle, who scored three of the late tallies, was high man of the game with 16 points. Beard collected 15 markers and Parkinson 10. Howard Beverly was the West Virginia leader with 11 while Leland Byrd and Dave Wilson netted 10 each.

The Rams, upset conquerors of Bowling Green in their tourney opener, were figured five points behind Muhlenberg but they belied the odds with their superb play. With Calverley and Dick Hole leading the way, the Rams took a 32-24 half-time advantage. Oscar Reid Baldwin started a Muhlenberg surge which carried the intermission and within five minutes the Mules had narrowed Rhode Island's edge to 36-33. But Calverley got hot again and sank eight straight points to just about sew up the contest. Baldwin's was the Rams' ace pointmaker with 18.

With Calverley and Dick Hole leading the way, the Rams took a 32-24 half-time advantage. Oscar Reid Baldwin started a Muhlenberg surge which carried the intermission and within five minutes the Mules had narrowed Rhode Island's edge to 36-33. But Calverley got hot again and sank eight straight points to just about sew up the contest. Baldwin's was the Rams' ace pointmaker with 18.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., March 19 (AP)—After taking a 3-2 bumping from the Baltimore International League Orioles, the Boston Braves will attempt to snap out of their losing streak here today against the Philadelphia Phillies. Manager Billy Southworth has selected Elmer Singleton, Al Trichel and Johnny Sain to pitch.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 19 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics are "in desperate need" of an outfielder, says Manager Connie Mack, and "I'd do almost anything to get one."

Mack, who's looking for a rightfielder, says he'd prefer "a man of proved ability who can hit and drive in runs." Hal Peck, an athletic outfielder, is still holding out for more money and Mack comments tersely: "He's counted himself out."

Congress Turns Searchlight on State Department

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, March 19 (AP) — A second Congressional committee has turned its searchlight on the State Department.

Members of the House Committee on Un-American Activities disclosed today that for the last two months they have been quietly investigating reports that "persons of un-American tendencies are holding high position in the State Department."

Their inquiry, he said, does not overlap a current inquiry into State Department Intelligence operations being made by the House Military Committee.

Disclosure that the un-American Activities group has moved into the State Department picture came from Rep. Mundt (R-S.D.) and was confirmed by Rep. Rank (D-Miss.), ranking majority member.

No Early Report

"We have made no formal report and probably won't for some time," Mundt told a reporter. "But what we have found so far indicates that there is more than rumor to reports that many persons of questionable background are employed in the department."

Mundt said the committee also will ask the State Department for a report on how it will select an estimated 200 United States employees to be attached to the United Nations Organization.

Mundt said his committee is concerned primarily with persons who "are pro-Communist."

Whether there is any connection between the committee's State Department inquiry and its current investigation of reports that foreign agents are seeking to obtain atomic bomb secrets, Mundt would not say.

But he disclosed without elaboration that committee investigators have come upon "a hot trail" in the atomic bomb inquiry and said they are cooperating with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and with Army and Navy Intelligence officers.

You May Pay More For Your Cigarettes

New York, March 19 (AP) — A rise in cigarette prices soon was seen today by O.P.A. and industry sources as "a strong possibility."

The Office of Price Administration may lift the cigarette ceiling within the next two or three weeks to offset increasing costs of raw materials, Geoffrey Baker, deputy price administrator, said. Removal of price controls on cigars may follow within a few months.

Industry sources said cigarette price increases were expected to range from 25 to 50 cents a 1,000.

The following were elected to attend the B'nai Brith convention which is scheduled for May 25, 26 and 27 in Boston, Mass.: Sigmund Rudisch, Arthur B. Ewig and Herman Eaton.

At the recent meeting it was announced that the Ellenville Lodge of B'nai Brith has accepted an invitation to be guests of Zephanian for a full day of sports, discussion and entertainment. The date for this event will be announced in the near future.

Averill Park Man Is Held on Robbery Charge

Troy, N. Y., March 19 (AP) — William F. Perkins, 21, of Averill Park, faces grand jury action on a first degree robbery charge in the robbing and beating of a Sand Lake woman.

Perkins, captured by state police after a widespread manhunt Sunday, was returned here from Hawthorne last night and arraigned before Peace Justice Henry Karl of Averill Park. He waived examination and was remanded to Rensselaer county jail.

A companion, John F. Riley, 23, New York city, was killed by troopers' bullets Sunday as the pair fled from a station wagon which police said had been stolen from Mrs. Doris Gallant, 25, who was beaten when she surprised the two men in her home. The pair escaped with a fur coat, radio, jewelry, cash and the car.

Barbers Will Meet

There will be a meeting of all barbers at Rio's Hotel Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

The sulphite process, invented in 1867, made possible the substitution of cheap wood for costly rags in paper-making.

Make It Good, You G.I.'s, This Is Your Dream Chance

Washington, March 19 (AP) — G.I.'s were promised a chance today to sound off on what they think is wrong with the Army's officer system.

But when they sound off, it had better be good for five of the six men on the inquiry board hearing their complaints will be ex-G.I.'s — and ex-G.I.'s have surprising sales resistance.

Vice Adm. Louis E. Den Field, Chief of Naval Personnel, said the Navy planned a similar investigation by reserve officers and enlisted men.

After months of criticism of the relations and privileges of enlisted men as against officers, Secretary of War Patterson set up the machinery yesterday for a public airing of the "caste system" question in the Army.

He named a board of six service men, now reconverted to civilian life, to inquire into all the gripes which the lowly yardbird has brooded over, Patterson said. He hoped the investigation would produce recommendations for any change necessary for "building a citizens' army."

The board is headed by Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, now on temporary leave from the Air Forces, and the only member who cannot claim that he started at a strictly G.I. level. Doolittle enlisted as a flying cadet in World War I.

Other members are: Troy H. Middleton, who enlisted in the Regular Army in 1910 and rose to the rank of lieutenant general, commanding the 45th Division in North Africa and Sicily. He is now comptroller of Louisiana State University.

Robert Neville, New York newspaperman, who started the recent war as a G.I. and wound up as a lieutenant colonel and officer-in-charge of the Mediterranean edition of Stars and Stripes.

Adna H. Underhill, paratrooper veteran now with the New York State Conservation Department. He went into the Army from Freeville, N. Y., and worked his way up from private to sergeant and finally emerged a captain.

Mervyl M. Frost, Harrover, N. H., who won a Purple Heart while with the 451st Bomb Group in Italy. He was a sergeant then. He got back stateside to resume his studies at Dartmouth and captain the Big Green football team last season.

John W. Lindsey, the tech sergeant from Mississippi who was the 100th infantryman to win the Congressional Medal of Honor in World War II. He now is with the Veterans Administration in Massachusetts.

The committee plans to open hearings before the end of the month. It will examine relationships between officers and enlisted men on and off duty, promotion systems, and the comparative treatment of enlisted and officer personnel in such matters as housing, clothing, living arrangements and recreational provisions.

UNRRA Hears Stories of Famine In Greece, China

Atlantic City, N. J., March 19 (AP) — Spokesmen for China and Greece told in stark and simple terms today the story of starvation and suffering in their lands and appealed for continued aid to prevent the present crisis from becoming an even greater calamity.

China's Tsingfu F. Tsiang reported to delegates from 47 nations at UNRRA's council meeting that "famine and starvation actually has begun" in his country—so acute in some areas that people are eating grass and clay.

"The actual state of affairs is far worse than had been estimated," he asserted. "Food will have to be supplied for another season. But let us all be realistic. We cannot meet more than one-half the needs."

Kyriakos Varvarevoss, Greek delegate, said that only a "small proportion" of the Greek needs have been met, and said that people have been dropping in the streets from lack of food.

He recounted his country's fight against aggression, and then declared "I feel that I am entitled to ask for Greece a few thousand tons of wheat" to prevent a new calamity.

The world food problem posed by UNRRA, its major immediate problem—whether to recommend sharp curtailment of relief aid to Japan and Germany in order to give preference treatment to Allied liberated lands.
